AIGA SF Fall Gala: "The Afterlife, Paper, purgatory and the great beyond"

November 15, 2007

The Galleria at the San Francisco Design Center

Become involved with AIGA San Francisco's biggest event of the year, the AIGA SF Fall Gala: "The Afterlife, Paper, purgatory and the great beyond," on November 15th, 2007. Help rescue paper from recycling limbo with a Fashion Show and benefit auction of post-consumer paper apparel, and objects d'art by some of the Bay Area's great designers.

We are looking for submissions to the Fashion Show, which will be auctioned off at the event. This year's fashion show has a green twist and all wearables must be made from a paper product, which has been used at least once [i.e. make ready, press sheets, old printed jobs, laundry boxes....you get the idea].

The designer will choose their own model therefore making fittings etc., more manageable. We will need sketches of the design in order for it to be considered for the runway and we will make final decisions on entries in early September to allow time for creation.

From recycling bin to runway...

We will also be accepting art donations for a silent auction, which can be anything one can imagine, the only restriction being it must be made from pulp, which has been used once.

If you are interested in participating, please complete and fax this form to Don Savoie at 415.626.5434 by 9/21/07.
